PADUCAH IS BACK FROM THE TROPICS

Has Been On Duty In West Indies Ten Months.

Commander Winterhalter and Mayor D. A. Yeiser Renew Correspondence This Week.

PLAN TO BUY THAT SERVICE.

Renewed correspondence between Mayor Yeiser and Commander Winterhalter, of the gunboat, Paducah, since the good ship has returned from ten months' active duty in tropical waters, has revived interest in the prospective visit of the ship to Paducah and the presentation to her of a silver service in behalf of the city. She should have come earlier, but she was sent off to quell an insurrection and has been busy since.

How to raise to money necessary to pay for a service that will do the city credit is a question that is agitating the official mind. Popular subscription in which all might participate is the most favorably considered, and City Auditor Kirkland has a plan that seems to be most happy. He suggests that buttons with a picture of the boat be sold at a dollar apiece and preserved by the owners until the boat comes. The money realized for their sale will pay for the silver service and the buttons will suitably serve for the occasion of the reception.

The following correspondence has passed between the mayor and Commander Winterhalter this week:

Commander's Letter.

The Honorable David A. Yeiser, Mayor, Paducah, Ky.

Dear Sir:—It will interest our friends in Paducah to learn that our ship has returned to the United States after a service of ten months in the West Indies waters. In this time she has upheld the traditions of the navy, and then two revolutions in Santo Domingo, safeguarded American interests and prestige.

The health of all on board has been excellent, despite the exacting character of the climate and the deprivations of shore leave and physical exercise entailing upon our assignment. The department, upon our return, granted to all deserving men leave of absence for 15 days, a special privilege to which a total of 126 men were found wholly or in part entitled,—a showing, for the interval and in the circumstances named, that appears very creditable.

The interest which was aroused thru your previous correspondence and thru the information furnished by you and by other city officials has been sustained and it is our earnest hope that we may yet be permitted to visit the city which gave name to our home afloat.

While awaiting so happy an event, may I reiterate my once expressed welcome to the ship for all citizens of Paducah who may at any time visit the port of our sojourn? Minor repairs will be made to the ship during the next 30 days. For these the navy yard has not yet been designated, but it seems probable that it will be the one where we now are.

Hoping that you and your esteemed family are very well, I remain, Very truly yours, A. G. Winterhalter, Commander, U. S. Navy, commanding.

Mayor Yeiser's Reply.

Commander A. G. Winterhalter, Comdg. U. S. S. "Paducah," Navy Yard, League Island, Pa.

Dear Sir:—Yours of November 10, just to hand, which I am very glad to receive; and I am delighted to know that the gunboat "Paducah" has come up to the expectations of yourself, officers and men, as well as the navy department. The citizens of Paducah feel very proud of their namesake, and are pleased to know that all on board have excellent health, and permission for a leave of absence, which is a privilege I have no doubt the whole crew will enjoy. Should any of your officers or crew, during their leave of absence, have opportunity to come to Kentucky, we will be glad to see them in Paducah. We sincerely trust that it will not be very long before your vessel will be permitted by the navy department to visit our city, and from expressions from our citizens generally, you will receive a cordial reception. The city and citizens, when officially notified of your prospective arrival, wish to present to your ship a suitable acknowledgment of the compliment extended the city by the government.

In giving her our city's name. Thanking you for the kind wishes to my family, who are all fairly well, and extending to you in return the kindest regards of the citizens and myself, and trusting we may soon be able to have you at Paducah, I remain, Very Respectfully, D. A. YEISER, Mayor.

Span Falls With Four.

Loveland, O., Nov. 14.—The span of a new bridge being built by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad fell this morning throwing four workmen into the Little Miami river, fifty feet below. One will die and the others are severely hurt. Other workmen dragged the victims from the river preventing their drowning.

NO ALIMONY

FOR COUNT HONI DE CASTELLANE, BUT THE COSTS.

Anna Gould Gets Divorce and Children From Her French Nobleman.

Paris, Nov. 14.—Countess de Castellane, formerly Anna Gould, was granted a divorce today from Count Honi and awarded the custody of the children. The decision forbids Countess Anna taking the children to America without permission of the court. Count Honi must pay costs and gets no alimony.

PRESIDENT NEAR CUBAN COAST

Wireless Message Reports All Well on Louisiana and Good Weather.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 14.—Wireless telegrams received here from the battle ship Louisiana, with the president and party aboard, en route to Colon, show that at 7 o'clock this morning the ship, with her convoys, the Washington and Tennessee, was at a point about 300 miles south of Jupiter Inlet, Fla. The squadron was heading for Crooked Island passage, between Crooked Island and Watling, or San Salvador Island, where Columbus first landed in this hemisphere, and was making about 15 knots an hour. Captain Conden expected to reach Cape Mayal at the eastern extremity of the island of Cuba, by nightfall today if the pleasant weather conditions continue. The president and party were all well.

There is only one kind of a newspaper circulation statement that is worth any consideration and that is the daily detailed statement. The Sun is the only Paducah paper printing such a statement.

JUDGE PURYEAR VACATES BENCH

Has Made Excellent Record As Police Magistrate

Has Been a Terror to Evildoers and Was Defeated for Nomination by Dave Cross.

LATTER ASSUMES THE OFFICE.

Today is the last day Police Judge E. H. Puryear will sit on the bench in that capacity. Judge Cross succeeded him at 12 o'clock tonight. Judge Cross has been awarded his certificate of election effective tomorrow.

Judge Puryear has made probably one of the most impartial judges on the bench. He played no favorites, following a course he announced when he mounted to bench the first day of his appointment by Mayor D. A. Yeiser: "All defendants look alike to me." He assessed some heavy fines but they were conscientiously assessed. Negro criminals conspicuous in police court for years, had a horror of the prisoners' bench when he began business, and when Judge Puryear said, "don't ever let me see you up here again," they generally tried their best to follow directions.

Judge Puryear was appointed to fill out the vacancy caused by the death of Police Judge D. L. Sanders. In the primary he was defeated by Attorney Dave Cross who was elected. Judge Puryear in leaving the bench made a few appropriate remarks. He has made a good judge, and notwithstanding his severe punishment in instances has the respect and admiration of all.

M. FISH GIVES UP HIS PASSES.

Deposits Illinois Central Road Returns Transportation Favors.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—Having been deposed as president of the Illinois Central railroad, Stuyvesant Fish is not disposed to avail himself of the courtesies of other railroads for the brief remaining period of the present year. This is indicated by the return of his exchange passes for 1906 to both the Reading and Pennsylvania lines, with presumably similar action on his part so far as the other railroads are concerned.

TERROR

SEIZES PEOPLE OF LOUISVILLE SINCE ETLV MURDER.

Another Woman Assaulted in Strange Manner—Police Have No Clue to Crime.

Louisville, Nov. 14.—There is a reign of terror here since the murder of Mrs. Etlv, supposedly by a burglar, in her home. Dealers in firearms report 6,000 revolvers sold to citizens of Louisville for protection since the murder.

The women in the southern section of the city in the neighborhood of the Etlv crime are of the belief that the murder was committed by a "Jack-the-Ripper," and the news of the assault on Mrs. Eli Saunders, of 703 1/2 street, the assault on young O'Brien, followed by the murder of Mrs. Etlv, has thrown them in a state of nervous excitement which is unprecedented.

The police have no clue.

Can Find No Work.

Mrs. Minnie Hancock, a widow, her son, and three small children, of Bennettstown, a small settlement north of Princeton, Ky., were thrown on their own resources today in a strange town and among strangers. They had to apply to the city for aid, and will this afternoon be sent home. Gene Bennett, the son, is old enough to work. He wants to work and encouraged his mother in his ambitions to the extent that they spent nearly all they had to reach Paducah. The boy was sure he could secure employment but since Saturday has been unsuccessful.

PLAN NEW ATTACK ON DIETZ Wisconsin Authorities to Use Troops in Effort to Capture.

Chippewa, Wis., Nov. 14.—Another attempt will be made to capture John Dietz of Cameron Falls, District Attorney McNamara, who has just been re-elected on the Dietz issue, is back of the move. It is stated that Attorney General Sturdevant has rendered an opinion to Governor Davidson that he is warranted in furnishing such assistance to the sheriff of Sawyer county in the capturing of Dietz as that official may ask. Backed by this opinion, the Sawyer county authorities, it is understood, will ask for the assistance of troops in storming the Dietz stronghold.

FIGHT STANDARD WITH INJUNCTION

Government Attorneys Start To St. Louis Today

Price of Stock Falls to the Lowest Point in Four Years in New York.

WHAT IT HAS COST JOHN D.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Special Attorneys, Kellogg & Morrison, of the department of justice, are en route from Washington to St. Louis. Within 48 hours they will file a petition for an injunction against the Standard Oil trust. The fight between the United States government and the Standard Oil will then be on.

Has Cost John D. Heavily.

New York, Nov. 14.—Attacked by the federal government the market value of Standard Oil has shrunk within a year, $125,000,000. The stock sold today at the lowest point reached in years. The slump has caused John D. Rockefeller's little pile to wither $65,000,000. Four years ago the stock sold for $840 a share. Today it sold for $575.

Rockefeller Indicted.

Flindley, O., Nov. 14.—John D. Rockefeller and several directors of the alleged subsidiary companies of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, were secretly indicted by the grand jury of Hancock county today. The charge is violation of the Valentine anti-trust act. The names of those indicted will not be made public until warrants are served.

LIGHTING PLANT

MACHINERY ARRIVES IN PADUCAH THIS AFTERNOON.

Will Require Only Two Days to Install It and Next Week Will Be in Operation.

Mayor Yeiser received a telephone message from the Illinois Central freight depot this afternoon that the machinery for the municipal lighting plant had arrived. As soon as it can be gotten out to the plant the machinery will be installed. Early next week the plant will be in full operation with the additional lamps burning.

SILVER BIO GRANDE

Will Be Made to Turn a Big Turbine Wheel.

Denver, Nov. 14.—Articles of incorporation are filed for the Central Colorado Power company with a capital of $22,000,000. The object of the company is to utilize the water power of the state, chiefly on the Rio Grande river for electric power purposes. Ex-Governor Herriek, of Ohio, is president of the company.

Case Continued.

The case of Max Naim and Joe Friedman against William Katterjohn was continued. Katterjohn added a story to a building in which a printing office was located. Rain damaged the presses and other equipment and the owners of the building, plaintiffs in the action, were made to pay damages. They in turn seek to recover damages from the contractor.

STREET BLOCKED BY OLD BUILDING

L. C. Moves Old Dispatchers Office In Way.

City Will Now Have Trouble In Opening Kentucky Avenue Across Railroad.

IS TWO-STORY FRAME HOUSE.

Property owners interested in the opening of Kentucky avenue from Eleventh street to Twelfth street across the railroad tracks, are wading with interest what appears to be a checker game between the city and Illinois Central railroad. From indications, much to the regret of those interested, the railroad company slipped a man in ahead and blocked the city's move.

Several weeks ago a motion was made in the general council to immediately open Kentucky avenue from Eleventh street to Twelfth street. Only two small hollows presented obstacles, of course, excepting the obstructions the road might have. It looked easy enough, and an investigation was ordered.

The next move made was by the railroad. Without ceremony or advance bulletins, the road placed a corps of laborers to work jacking up the old dispatchers' offices, a two-story frame, located at the north end of the south yards. The buildings were set over on the tracks and pulled down to Eleventh street and Kentucky avenue on the railroad property. Today laborers are setting it on foundations—away from the tracks and in the middle of the street.

"What it means," a property owner declared this morning, "is that the railroad has checked the city in opening Kentucky avenue. This, at least, seems to be the opinion of those interested in the opening of the avenue."

The question to be solved in the municipal board, if the street is to be opened, is if the city will be willing to pay the price to condemn the property now that the house is on it. The road will probably claim a great deal more damage in setting its dispatchers' offices aside, or tearing the building down to open the street than the mere property would cost had the house not been on it.

GENERAL CREDIT

CURRENCY TO BE ISSUED IN TIMES OF STRESS.

Adopted by Currency Committee of Banking Association—Tax for Liabilities.

Washington, Nov. 14.—For more than three hours today, the currency committee of the American banking association and the New York chamber of commerce discussed "the formulation of principles" which are to form the basis of legislation for the issue of emergency currency in times of financial stringency.

These "principles" will be recommended to congress at the coming session. The discussion developed a sentiment in favor of currency to be issued on the general credit of the bank desiring to emit emergency currency during periods of financial stress as is done in cases of various European countries. The alternative of this proposition—that of aggregating the assets of the banks as special security for these issues—was voted down.

The tax on these general credit issues it is proposed, shall form a guarantee fund to be placed in the treasury and used to meet the liabilities of any bank which fails. The question of what tax to place on general credit issues was referred to a sub-committee of three.

STREWS STREETS WITH GEMS

Woman Throws Away $30,000 Worth of Diamonds in Texas.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 14.—Fifty thousand dollars' worth of diamonds have been scattered about Houston and Galveston by May Alvord, who was owner of the Standard, a variety theater in Houston, until it was closed a few months ago. The woman now is in the county jail raving crazy. Diamonds were her hobby, and she had nothing but the finest. Some she has given to strangers and some she cast into the streets, where a wild scramble for their possession ensued. In Galveston, Saturday, she bought great quantities of elegant furniture and had it shipped to fictitious addresses.

Boer Raiders Active.

Capetown, Nov. 14.—The outbreak of Boers to Cape Colony became more serious today when two new bands of raiders made their appearance in the northwestern part of the colony. Bands are moving in opposite directions along their utmost to stir up dissatisfaction among the settlers.

LABEL

ON UNION GOODS TO BE UNIVERSAL IS DECISION.

Important Action Taken at Meeting of American Federation of Labor.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—The most important action of the second day's session of the American Federation of Labor was the adoption of a universal label design and of referring the matter to the convention of 1907.

This action, however, was not taken until after a lively discussion. Cigarmakers, printers and hatters lead the opposition, claiming they have spent much money in advertising their respective labels and deriving much benefit as a result, which would be lost, were the Federation to adopt a new general label.

Gunners' plan of creating political power out of combined union strength was endorsed.

MOUNTAIN TORRENTS

Wash. Ariz. Bridges and Destroy Telegraph Lines.

Tacoma, Nov. 14.—Bridges were washed away, telegraph and telephone wires are down and train service on the Northern Pacific is completely deranged. One life was lost as the result of recent heavy rains, augmented by melting heavy snowfall on the Cascade mountain range.

SHANGHAIED

WERE SAILORS FOUND IN OYSTERS FLEET.

Silvering for Want of Clothes on Dredge in Chesapeake Bay When Rescued.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 14.—Nine men, shivering for want of clothing, sore and bruised from alleged cruel treatment, were rescued from the oyster dredge James A. Whiting, in Chesapeake Bay, last night by Deputy United States Marshals West and Miller and landed here this morning. The men are Robert Taylor, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Elijah Murphy, Eddie Jenkins, Charles Williams, Joe Williams, Peter Hunter, John Anderson, Charles Logan and Nelson Woolridge.

They have filed libel claims against the vessel for some $200 in wages, claiming not one cent has been paid to them since they were shipped. John Prnett was taken into custody charged with complicity in the alleged "shanghaiing." Captain Andrew Crockett, who commanded the Whiting was not found yesterday, but word was left for him to appear in Norfolk by Wednesday or the officers would return and bring him.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—The comptroller of the currency this morning issued a call for a statement of the condition of national banks at the close of business Monday, November 12.

WEATHER—Unsettled with light rain or snow tonight and possibly Thursday. Warner central and east portion tonight. The highest temperature reached yesterday was 43 and the lowest today was 30.

BEAUTIFUL SNOW IS THREE INCHES DEEP

First Time So Early In Many Many Years.

How It Affects Different People and Different Lines of Trade When It Comes.

MUCH SUFFERING FOLLOWS.

Paducah is experiencing her first snow storm of the season today. The white flakes began to fall at 1:40 o'clock this morning. They grew heavier until the air was thick with them. The ground took on the white coat with no signs of melting and even at 3 o'clock when a light rain set in, the snow did not disappear. The rain ceased as suddenly as it began and the white flakes again became conspicuous. Towards daylight they ceased and an intermission of three-quarters of an hour brought on another light fall of snow.

To say that residents were surprised when they awoke this morning would be putting it mildly. They were astounded. Going to bed under a clear sky and waking up to see several inches of snow on the ground was too much. While it brought gloom to the houses of the poor, it brought gladness to the hearts of the boys, for they could coast, ride sleds and above all, throw snowballs.

The railroad yard switchmen and yard laborers were heavily protected from the snow. Padded feet, many using bran sacks, were conspicuous for the first time this year. Merchants did a good business in rain coats, gloves and rubbers, and the snow brought with it a little trade.

Cherry Trees in Bloom.

"I think it very singular that this late in the season you can find cherry trees in bloom, yet you can," Bob Parish declared as he viewed the snow. "I was out in the county yesterday looking for lumber and noticed several trees in bloom. Farmers say it has not occurred in years. It is due to the mild fall."

An apple tree on North Sixth street had a few blossoms on it last week.

Three Inches Fell.

Presto! Never did the marvelous wand of Aaddin work a change with more astonishing rapidity nor a more complete transformation than did nature last night. Honest citizens went to bed under a clear sky and woke up to see three inches of snow on tree and house, street and lane.

When did you see snow in November this early before? The scientific weather man does not recall it for three years back, but to really know will require a reference to the cobwebbed memory of the old citizens.

Last year snow fell slightly on November 30. In 1904 snow did not fall until December 11. On November 25, two inches of snow fell in 1903. But this is November 14. The weather man has been hinting at unusual weather for some days, but as if not sure of himself made no positive prediction. For today and tomorrow he comes in with the belated prediction of possibly light snow or rain tonight and Thursday.

When the sleepy masculine rolled out of bed this morning after attending the theater, lodge or club last night, and gazed indifferently out of the window expecting to see the wonted drear fall scene, "I'll swear!" he exclaimed. The scene, though milder, ejaculated as vigorously, "Well, I'll declare!" The scales of sleep fell off their eyes, the headache for him and the after nap for her, were forgotten in the electrification of surprise.

It was warmer this morning than yesterday morning and for a while rain fell. But the atmosphere became colder and snow fell again. It is a wet snow. The limbs of the trees hold a heavy load and wherever a shelf offered it stuck in large quantities.

Slush In Streets.

The wagons made a slush in the streets and on the pavements, early risers created the disagreeable aftermath of snow. For the first time this winter, breakfast was made appetizing for many a man who had to shovel snow in front of his house before he could eat the meal, late because the cook no more than the rest of us, had anticipated snow.

As usual those persons who do things tomorrow, bought the over-shoes and umbrellas on their way to

Warm Heavy Overcoats

Winter's first chilly blast searched you out this morning and now you are probably thinking about overcoats. If that is the case, "Weille's" is in your mind, too. Variety large, prices conservative, we ask your patronage because of our superiority in workmanship, style and fabric.

The smart new Granville bids strongly for favor. Its broad, manly-looking shoulders, snug collar, form-fitting. You will like it. The Louis XV. is another of the new favorites for 1906. It, too, is form-fitting and, withal, one of the most swagger coats brought forward in recent years.

But whatever it is you want, we have it, and at the price you have in mind.

Would you know a safe physic?

Most pills and laxatives are not. Something more than a purgative is necessary in a good physic. There are hundreds of preparations which will make the bowels act, but very few of them will do so without great damage to the digestive organs. Canned preparations, coated pills, certain salts, and other well known and widely used remedies force the bowels to action, but at a great cost of strength to the intestinal muscles. Such preparations act unnaturally. They weaken the entire system, and the patient is left in a worse condition than if nothing had been taken.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not like other laxatives. It never weakens, but always strengthens. It is pleasant to take, acts gently upon the bowels, never gripes, and once the bowels are given the strength which it imparts, they are quickly restored to a permanently normal condition, fully able to voluntarily perform their functions.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is unequalled in the treatment of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and all stomach disorders. It is sold by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

ALASKA EXHIBIT WILL BE BIGGEST

Exposition Of Pacific Coast
At Seattle.

Advocates of Income Tax Receive
Encouragement From English Reports.

IMMENSE FORTUNE REALIZED

Washington, Nov. 14.—The next international exposition after that at Jamestown next year will be held at Seattle, but its scope will be limited to the Pacific coast, Alaska, Central and South America, the Philippine, the Hawaiian and other islands of the Pacific, Australia, China, Korea and Japan. A formal invitation will be sent to all the nations bordering on the Pacific, and efforts will be made to have them thoroughly represented, our Latin-American neighbors as well as our original friends. It is considered wise to limit the representation because it is easier to do well with too little than too much. Missionaries will be sent to represent the cause among the nations named, and next winter a bill will be introduced into congress making an appropriation for a proper government exhibit. It is expected that the United States will do as well at Seattle as it did at Portland and will require about the same amount of money. No subsidy or general appropriation for the promotion of the enterprise will be asked. Seattle feels competent to stand on her own bottom and furnish capital enough to carry out the scheme.

The title of the exposition will have four sections. It will be called the Seattle-Yukon-Alaska-Pacific exposition, with emphasis upon the Alaska, for a full representation of that territory and the British interests in the Klondike and along the Yukon River will be made. Seattle is the principal port of Alaska; most of the business of that territory either originates or terminates within its limits, and since the destruction of San Francisco the transactions have doubled in volume and importance. Therefore there is a particular reason for the Seattle people to exploit the modern Klondike.

The exposition will be held in the year 1909, which gives two years and a half for preparation. The plans are now being completed, the organization has been perfected and serious work will begin at once.

Income Tax.

Those who believe in an income tax will find a great deal of consolation and encouragement in the recent report of the inland revenue commissioners of the British government who have charge of that branch of the finances. The latest returns show receipts of 30,966,401 pounds, or $155,000,000, in round numbers, of our money; 59 per cent of which came from the incomes of commercial and manufacturing concerns, professions and employments, 25.4 per cent from "the ownership of lands and houses," 8.2 per cent from salaries of government and public company officials, and 6.7 per cent from "profits from British, colonial and foreign securities."

The total wealth of the British nation as shown by the income tax returns for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, is $3,120,000,000, an increase from $2,840,000,000, returned for the previous year.

It is agreed by all concerned that the income tax, although a shilling to a pound, or 25 cents on every $5 income, is the fairest division of taxation, the least felt and the most easily collected of any revenues except that from saloon licenses.

PITTSBURG PANIC OVER CRIME.

Vigilance Committee Formed and Indignation Meetings Held.

Pittsburg, Nov. 14.—The city is on the verge of panic as the result of recent burglaries and murders. At a meeting of the east end board of trade last night a vigilance committee was appointed and resolutions offered telling citizens to arm themselves and recommending the purchase of bloodhounds. The regular meeting of the Pittsburg board of trade, which was to have been held next week, was put forward. The rising tide of crime was discussed, and a committee will call upon the mayor and city officials in an effort to secure safety.

Other trade and business organizations are holding indignation meetings and drawing up petitions demanding protection from the authorities. The robbers are growing bolder. This afternoon at Sixth avenue and Wood street, one of the most crowded spots in the heart of the city, and Divorce Congress Adopts Recommendation for Uniform Laws on Subject.

FOUNDATIONS FOR ANNULLMENT

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—The national congress on uniform divorce laws today adopted about one-third of the proposed uniform bill as drafted by the committee appointed at the meeting in Washington nine months ago. The portions adopted included seven cases under which marriage may be annulled, and six cases of absolute divorce.

The important changes in the bill are the striking out of all references to proceedings and divorce practice, leaving this question for the various state legislative bodies to pass upon. The committee decided that so long as open hearings are held and laws provide for direct service on the respondent and for punishment for collusion, the measure need not conform to any fixed rule.

The causes for which divorce can be granted are infidelity, felony, bigamy, desertion, habitual drunkenness and intolerable cruelty, and in the discussion there was little opposition to any of these provisions but in the list of causes for annulment of marriage, opposition was presented against several.

Insanity Cause for Separation.
Governor Pennypacker took exceptions to the clause which provides that if either party unknown to the other was insane at the time of marriage it should be annulled. The governor held that the clause not only gave the sane party the right to begin suit but also to a committee of lunatics.

This would place a commission appointed by the court a right to begin a suit in the name of any sane party even if the person insane did not want a divorce. He argued that marriage was a personal relation and a third person had no rights in the contract.

One delegate opposing the governor said the third party is the people and it has the right to forbid the propagation of children from the insane. There was further discussion and the clause was adopted.

There was also opposition to the clause annulling the marriage of a girl under the age of 16 and a youth under 18. Ernest Merion, of Wisconsin, held that a girl under 18 was incapable of making a proper marriage contract, and Frank H. Kerr, of Ohio, favored the law of his state which makes the marriage of a boy under 21 and a girl under 18, void.

Miss Rachel Seigel, of Utah, the only woman speaker, held that 16 years for the girl was all right. She said "We women ought to know." The clause was adopted.

Fortunate Misnomers.

"When I was a druggist, at Livonia, Mo., writes T. J. Sawyer, now of Grayville, Mo., 'three of my customers were permanently cured of consumption by Dr. King's New Discovery, and are well and strong today. One was trying to sell his property and move to Arizona, but after using New Discovery a short time he found it unnecessary to do so. GEN. PERCY HALY AND HIS CAREER

Little Fellow Who Wins Political Victories.

Fides Achates of Believing Admirals, Tradition Come Up From the Clock Room.

KNOWS KENTUCKY POLITICS

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 11.—One year ago, when Judge Thomas H. Paynter, of the Ninth congressional district, won the nomination of the Democratic party for a seat in the United States senate as the successor of Senator Jo Blackburn, the first man to whom he turned and thanked for the successful termination of his campaign, was, in the Democratic primary election which has just been held, piloted another winner in the person of Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, who goes to Washington as the successor of Senator James H. McCreary. This man is Percy Haly, of this city, who is today one of the best known Democratic politicians in the state. To his efforts more than those of any other man, Senator Blackburn will next year retire after twenty-five years in public life at the national capital, and Senator McCreary, his colleague in the senate will quit public life after having been almost continuously in office at the Kentucky capital and at Washington since 1869.

Haly's Early Career.
In 1899 Gen. Haly was the pet of the politicians, being only a boy, but with a great aptitude for politics, gained in the memorable Hunter-Blackburn campaign for the United States senatorship in 1896, when Gov. Bradley called out the state troops to keep peace between the warring factions in the Kentucky legislature. In which campaign Haly did good work for Blackburn in securing information of every move made in Republican caucus meetings. When Beckham had succeeded to the governorship, he appointed him assistant adjutant general. Haly's loyalty to the new leader of the party, and his work for him in the campaigns of 1900 and of 1902, was rewarded by an elevation to the place of adjutant general. He had already taken prominent place in the councils of the party as secretary of the two state committees of the party, and as secretary of the campaign in which Beckham won his victories. To him Beckham trusted his political interests, and he has throughout been his closest adviser in such matters. In the campaign against Blackburn for the senatorship the governor and some of his friends were slow to act. At the legislative session preceding, Beckham had written an open letter declaring that he himself would not aspire to the office, and Blackburn would have had no opposition for reelection had not his friends forced him to declare himself against what he termed "the Frankfort machine." Giving out at Washington that he had determined to go to the Kentucky capital and "bust" the "machine," he gathered about him several of the Kentucky delegation in the lower house of congress, and they all gave out interviews that the "machine" was certainly doomed.

On Their Mettle.
This put the governor and the other leaders of the so-called "machine" on their mettle, and they began to cast about for a candidate. Judge Thos. H. Paynter, then on the appellate bench, was decided upon. The Blackburn faction could not understand such politics, for Paynter had not before that time been close to what they knew as the "machine," and they tried to make the new candidate believe that he was being used only as a tool. But Judge Paynter had been residing in Frankfort long enough to know the character of the men with whom he was dealing, and to know that the political game as played in Kentucky had been revolutionized during the brief public life of the late Sen. Goebel, and that its operators were thoroughly practical in everything that the word implies. While Mr. Blackburn had been spending his time about Washington new hands his drunken charge of the Democratic organization in this state, and they were hands experienced through a half dozen years' service in guiding the Democratic ship. He returned to Kentucky to find gathered in his camp but a few men, and most of these were disappointed office seekers who were outside the Beckham organization only because they could not get within. They met every few days at Louisville and gave out interviews regarding the race, claiming everything in sight.

Victorious Again.
Gen. Haly, as in the session before, came out victorious in a fight for the speakership of the house of representatives, landing Eli H. Brown, of Nelson county, as speaker over Herman Newcomb, the Louisville candidate. Realizing that this would be the entering wedge in the senatorial fight against Blackburn, he and those with him devoted all of their energies to electing to the speakership Henry R. Lawrence, a young newspaper editor of Trigg county. The Blackburn faction put forward R. W. Miller, of Madison county, now deceased, and one of the brightest members of the session preceding. With the power of the state administration behind him, it was a foregone conclusion to all but Mr. Miller's advisers that Lawrence would win. The vote of Louisville was relied upon by Blackburn to land his candidate in the speaker's chair. The Blackburn campaign failed and Lawrence won. The senatorial contest following was just as complete a victory for the administration, and, as said at the beginning of this article, the first man whose hand Judge Paynter grasped, and the man to whom he uttered the words of thanks, was Gen. Haly. The victory of this session was more complete through the election of commissioners to control the state prisons and reform schools, and the creation of a board of control for taking charge of the charitable institutions of the state. To the presidency of this new board Gov. Beckham appointed Gen. Haly, as an evidence of his ability and his confidence in him.

Beckham's Boom.
The session hadn't closed before Haly and other friends of the governor were declaring that he should be a candidate two years hence against McCreary. In fact, at the banquet given in honor of the election of Paynter, several of the speakers touched upon the splendid victory and predicted that Senator Paynter would hardly get accustomed to his surroundings in the senate at Washington before he would have the pleasure of presenting Senator Beckham to the bar to be sworn in as a member of that body.

The campaign to land Beckham in the senate was a far more strenuous one than was the Paynter fight. McCreary had been more closely in touch with the party in Kentucky through, as Gov. Beckham said in one of his campaign speeches, the "judicious distribution of government pamphlets and garden seed," and with his great wealth, was a live candidate. He gathered to his support the Blackburn faction and all of the disgruntled element which must come as a result of a half dozen years spent by one man in the executive office, and the disappointments which will come to many aspirants in that time. Added to this was the further fact that the compact organization which made the Paynter fight was broken up by the candidacy of several of its members and their interest in other candidates.

It's Fuel that's Expensive—Not the Stove

A Cheap, putty-jointed stove will waste more than its Original Cost in Fuel every winter.

As you know, fully one-half the carbon available for heat in soft coal is gas—the entire gas supply used for fuel and illumination in many cities and towns being made from common soft coal. The ordinary stove in burning soft coal allows this gas-half of the fuel to pass up the chimney unburned, thus wasting it as a heat producer.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Stove, by means of the patented Hot Blast draft and other patented features, making air-tight joints without the use of stove putty, distills this gas from the upper surface of the coal, utilizing it as a heat producer along with the fixed carbon or coke in the coal, thus burning all the coal. This is why

Cole's Original Hot Blast

Saves the Dollars and makes a ton of common $3.00 soft coal or lignite do the work of $9.00 worth of hard coal.

Your old stove and imitation Hot Blast are not air-tight, do not save the escaping gases and do not give you a warm house at night, because they are made with putty joints. You cannot afford to say to yourself, "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Even Heat Day and Night—Fire Never Out

Cole's Hot Blast is so perfect in construction that fire will keep all night, and when the draft is opened in the morning will burn two or three hours with the fuel put in the night before. No other stove does this. Fire, therefore, never goes out, and the rooms are kept at an even temperature all the time. Burns hard coal, soft coal, slack, lignite or wood.

OUR GUARANTEE

- 1.—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size, with soft coal or slack.
- 2.—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any lower burner made with same heating surface.
- 3.—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft coal or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
- 4.—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal 30 hours without attention.
- 5.—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.
- 6.—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.
- 7.—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.

The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good fuel.

For Hard Coal—Saves Half

The extent of unburned gases in hard coal is shown by opening the magazine cover of a base burner when the extra oxygen supplied fills the entire stove with flaming gas. The fact that no stove putty is used to make air-leaking joints, gives you perfect control over the drafts on Cole's Hot Blast. The slow, economical combustion, and the large, positive radiating surface make it the greatest fuel-saving, hard coal stove made.

Would You Lose $50.00 in Fuel to Save $1.00 on the Cost of Your Stove?

That is what you do when you buy a cheaply constructed, putty jointed, showy made imitation stove. Like all successful inventions, Cole's Original Hot Blast has many inferior imitations, avoid them. They all lack the patented features and careful construction, which make the Original Hot Blast a great success. They do not stay tight, and soon open seams and cracks which render them worthless as fire keepers. See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on the feed door. None genuine without it.

THE RIVER RENAISSANCE.

Everything points to a revival of the river trade, with all its attendant signs of prosperity, this time on a substantial basis, with none of the evil features of the old days. From now on there will be, not a gradual, but a rapid development of the river trade, and a hurrying of the government to put into execution plans for making the internal waterways amenable to meet every possible demand. It would not be surprising if some congress at no far future date would provide additional facilities and a permanent appropriation for carrying on the river improvements without cessation or interruption.

This sentiment has been fostered by wide awake men interested by reason of private investments or by reason of their residence associations with the river; but they have been aided by conditions over which they have no control, and which now assure the hearty co-operation of all branches of the government and all sections of the country in river development. One of the hindrances to inland waterway improvements has been the graft feature, happily now eliminated to a great degree. At one time it was the usual play for a congressman to secure an appropriation of a few thousand dollars to dredge creeks in his district in return for his vote on the rivers and harbors bill. Exposure and the report of the chief of engineers has done much to make such barefaced attempts at robbery extremely odious.

With the restriction of the appropriation to streams of value to interstate commerce, and an earnest revival of river trade, public sentiment gradually began to turn in the direction of the improvement of the water highways. Then came the railroad rate question, exposures of the robate system, and the people realized that if the rivers were improved the rate question might be solved. The Panama canal suggested further use of the rivers, and when the railroads began to maneuver for better communication with New Orleans the public foresaw the importance of preparing for better water communication with that port.

Now, the talk takes a wider range; a canal connecting the Great Lakes with the Mississippi, a big ship canal connecting the Great Lakes with the St. Lawrence, the dredging of minor tributaries of the big streams and all-the-year-round navigation of the latter. The ramifications of the Mississippi and its tributaries reach most of the great central producing territory. Water rates the year around will extend their benefits to points not on the river, for the law against discrimination in railroad rates will protect the inland centers.

President Roosevelt has gone to Panama. He will return more than ever impressed with the vastness of the enterprise and its effect on transportation to the orient. A mind like his cannot fail to grasp the relation of the inland waterways to the canal.

the rivers and harbors committee, has already been considering the work of congress, and it is said on good authority, that, instead of recommending the expenditure of $50,000,000, as suggested by the rivers and harbors congress, he favors recommending the appropriation of $75,000,000. Fortunately for his plan, the country is no longer shocked at the sound of "a billion dollar congress," and the people will not cry out against vast expenditures when the profits of the investment are so certain of realization.

Burton, undoubtedly will have the support of the administration, and he has behind him a powerful organization in the rivers and harbors congress and its affiliated organizations. This week the Mississippi Valley association meets in St. Louis. The Tennessee River Improvement association has completed its plans. Paducah is represented to both organizations.

The renaissance of the river trade is dawning.

In his speech before the Merchants' club in Chicago James J. Hill advocated close commercial relations with Canada—"commercial annexation" he called it. After all, isn't that sensible? Our consuls are instructed to foster trade with the orient and Europe, while we are engendering a spirit of rivalry instead of co-operation with our nearest neighbor on the north, who should be our best customer and supply us with her products. Canadian trade would be unaffected by any war except one with England, and close commercial relations with Canada would go far toward averting any such contingency. Canada has 6,000,000 people; 19,000 miles of railroad; $400,000,000 invested; products valued at $480,000,000, and a foreign trade of over $500,000,000. "There is land enough to feed every mouth in Europe. There are 250,000,000 acres of timbered land."

News associations carry the information that Harry Thow expects to escape the penalty for killing Stanford White by pleading the unwritten law; but the facts indicate that he is putting more dependence on the $100,000 lawyer he has hired to plead for him.

Gompers expressed himself before the Federation of Labor as greatly pleased with his experience in politics. It is unique that this pleasant experience of Mr. Gompers in politics did not bring sorrow and defeat to his opponents.

Statistics showing the percentage of people burned to death in railroad collisions as compared with the percentage dying otherwise from the effect of the wreck would be interesting and might be valuable.

Those who promise much seldom accomplish but little. "Seldom accomplish but little" is good. Wish George Cohan could bear it.

That Pittsburgh wife who was nailed to the kitchen sink is a literal illustration of a domestic crucifixion, not too uncommon, but too little recognized.

Now if the Providence that sent the snow, will preserve it until after tomorrow, what an auspicious opening of the hunting season it will prove.

Odel raps the president for interfering in New York; but from this distance it seems he did not interfere a moment too soon.

Remember the poor. The beautiful snow is not an artistic delight to all the residents of Paducah.

They say the snow has made the Paducah river front look attractive.

Pray for the rich. Give to the poor.

FINED IN THE POLICE COURT

Edgar R. Harvick was fined $25 and costs in police court this morning for breach of peace and recognized in the sum of $200 for his good behavior towards Attorney W. V. Eaton for a period of one year. Eaton had defended Harvick in a case and Harvick claims had undertaken his divorce suit. Eaton filed suit for Harvick's wife and the latter's call on the attorney to ascertain the latter's relation to the suit led to an altercation.

Counter Claim Interposed.

When the case of the Hazel Head- ing company against the Hollings-head & Biel company came to trial this morning, a counter claim was filed by the defendant, which necessitated the plaintiff making a defense even more vigorous than the plaintiff.

The plaintiff filed suit for $559.50, the value of two car loads of heading. The defendant put in a counter claim for $1,539, admitting the receipt of the two cars of heading at the stated value. The counter claim is above the value of the heading. It is for heading received previously, which is alleged to have been defective. The case is being argued this afternoon.

Judge Reed was unable on account of the heading company case to call his equity docket today. He will do so tomorrow.

E. Rehkopf on the Stand.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the examination of E. Rehkopf as an individual and also for the E. Rehkopf Solly company is in progress. The examination was delayed by the failure of Mr. Rehkopf to file his schedule sooner.

Other Cases.

Peter O'Brien, of Metropolis, charged with robbing J. W. Gullett of $30 and a watch, was dismissed, the prosecution having no evidence whatever against him.

Other cases: Zeh Wallace, colored, petty larceny, held over; Joe Dencker, disorderly conduct, $10 and costs, fine suspended provided he leaves the city; Nannie Palmer, colored, breach of peace, $10 and costs; Barney and W. M. Padgett, selling liquor to a minor, fled away with leave to re-arrest; Ed Elliott, colored, breach of peace, dismissed.

Divorce Granted.

Yesterday afternoon a divorce was granted Virgie McQuot from Charles McQuot and she was restored to her maiden name, Virgie Greer. Abandonment was the grounds for the decree.

Now are the river men happy. Out of the apparent evil of snow with the attendant disagreeable feature of loading freight from slippery river banks, will come the much needed rise in the rivers. When this snow melts the threatened drought will be snatched out of the realm of certainty and good water until next spring probably will follow. The gauge registered a fall for the last 24 hours of .2 the stage this morning being 5.6. Snowfall 3 inches.

The view across to the Illinois shore and to Owen's Island was beautiful this morning the trees being decked with a white mantle. For the first time, even the weeds on the wharf looked pretty covered with snow.

Work around the wharf received a sudden halt from the snow. The ways and dry docks are quiet and most outside work has stopped.

The Bob Dudley arrived last night at 10 o'clock from Nashville in the side of the Butternut. The water is too low for the Butternut and the crew of that boat was transferred to the Bob Dudley. It is probable that the Bob Dudley will not make the short trip to Clarksville. The business for Nashville was good this morning, leaving at noon.

The Dora Clark and Island Queen arrived at the wharf last night with a tow of corn from Caseyville, Ky. The corn was rehandled by the Clyde to be carried to Nashville. The Dora Clark and Island Queen are two gasoline boats and left today on the return trip to Caseyville.

The John S. Hopkins was the Evansville packet today.

The A. W. a small gasoline boat owned by Driver Jim Mills, was brought to the city yesterday from Brookport where it was built by him. The machinery in the A. W. formerly was on the Inspector No. 2.

The Clyde is at the wharf today and will leave this evening at 6 o'clock for the Tennessee river. The Clyde did not arrive until 8 o'clock last night and went down to Metropolis to deliver freight.

The Saltillo will make the regular trip as far as Cairo this week and return to St. Louis to carry out the Tennessee river excursion next week. The Dick Fowler had a fair trip to Cairo this morning and will return tonight.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio from Evansville to Cairo, the Tennessee from Florence to the mouth, and the Mississippi from below St. Louis to Cairo, will remain practically stationary during the next two or three days.

The Rigors of Cold Weather.

Probably at no time of the year does the physical condition of the body demand more attention than just at this season, the beginning of cold weather.

Let the system be run down, or the blood impoverished to any extent and the cold weather goes hard with you. Naturally the thing to do is to get the circulation in good order, and the whole system toned up to stand the rigors of winter.

Some physicians prescribe the daily cold bath, others seek recourse in blood tonics and other stimulants, but, probably the most rational treatment of all is the Osteopathic, as Osteopathy more quickly, and more effectively rights the blood flow and restores normal conditions than any other known treatment.

Osteopathy is only a natural treatment, a method of bloodless surgical manipulations to remove any obstructions interfering with the proper transference of nerve force, or natural blood flow, or the other fluids, to the organs or part involved.

I should like to have you call and let me tell of some Paducah people whom you know well that Osteopathy has done much for, and also to tell you what it will do for your particular case.

My office hours are from 9 to 12 and 2 to 3, 516 Broadway. Phone 1407. DR. G. B. FROAGE.

"I WAS AN INVALID."

"Doctors Said That I Would Die, Cooper's New Discovery Cured Me."

YOU WHO SUFFER READ THIS LETTER

The Cooper Medicine Company:
Gentlemen—I write to tell you the wonderful results that I have obtained from the use of the Cooper medicines. For five years I was an invalid suffering from a severe affection of the bowels. I was operated upon by skilled physicians five times in three years without any success and was given up to die. My weight dropped from 164 pounds to 100. I had heard so much of Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief but must admit I had but little faith in them. I decided however to give them a trial. The result was that in two weeks I was able to be out walking around. I continued the treatment until I was entirely well and now weigh 169 pounds. I cannot thank Mr. Cooper enough for his wonderful medicines.

work, they should have gotten yesterday. In the shoe stores, early in the morning every clerk was busy. Throughout the day, rain and snow have fallen intermittently. All outside building operations have stopped. The market gardeners report as heavy fall in the country, as in the city, and boats and trams coming from a distance report the snow to be general. It will result in a rise in the rivers.

If anything, the traction company had its cars in operation earlier this morning. Suburban dwellers, some of them "15 minutes from Broadway," had no trouble getting into the city on time. The cash lines were out in full force this morning to meet and go to the early trams and boats and as long as the snow remains they will do a rushing business.

Even that nesh rascal, the brazen-face weather man, was non-plussed by the appearance of snow this morning, and frankly admitted that you never can tell. The public has known that for a long time, but it is a noteworthy event when the weather man acknowledges it.

Applications From Paupers.

Mayor D. A. Yeiser and County Judge R. T. Lightfoot have been besieged with paupers today. Little girls with hardly enough clothes on their bodies, to hide nakedness, applied for food and fuel. Women thinly clad carrying babies as quietly unprotected from the weather, trudged to the city hall for secure food and fuel.

"I have had many applications for fuel and food," Mayor Yeiser stated. "There have been more here today than I expected. I have done all I can for them."

At the county court house Judge Lightfoot had the same experience.

Work Suspended.

On account of the snow work on the double tracking on Broadway, and on relaying brick at Fourth and Broadway and Third street and Kentucky avenue was stopped. Street work and sewer work fared likewise. Contractor Will Husbands, who is building roads in Mechanicsburg, was stopped just as he was preparing to get down to real business.

THE REASON

WHY PADUCAH TEAM DIDN'T GO TO METROPOLIS.

Strongly Sustained by Letter Received by Supt. Lieb From Across the River.

The following letter addressed to C. M. Lieb, "principal of the high school," speaks for itself, in view of the fact that the High school team last Saturday cancelled a date with the Metropolis football team at the latter city:

Dear Sir: Mrs. Cutting, our principal, spoke of receiving a letter from you concerning a certificate supposed to have been signed by her and implying that she signed it, knowing that some of the boys were not High school boys. The certificate was all right when she signed it but was doctored afterwards. She is not concerned beyond signing a certificate that was all right when she had it. Tell James to get a team, any kind, any weight, no certificate and come Saturday. If he is too yellow to play, let us know Monday or Tuesday. Yours—

M. H. S. F. B. T.
Please bring Will. Henneberger along. We eat his kind. H. Craig, coach.

You are all yellow cubs if you don't come Saturday. Tell James I said so. I mean that.—J. E. Mann, coach.

Judge Reed Reversed.

The appellate court yesterday reversed Circuit Judge Reed in the suit of S. C. Magruder against R. L. Potter. The suit was brought to enforce the opening of a lane, and Judge Reed ordered the lane opened. The lane was formerly a private one and Potter had closed it. This shut off ingress to the Magruder property.

Cases Dismissed.

Magistrate Charles W. Emery yesterday dismissed the case against H. C. Lohm and L. C. Smith, charged with taking an attached typewriter from the Roy McKinney's storage warehouse. They sold the machine to Jones & Son and the firm was sued and property attached. The typewriter was among the articles attached, and was stored at the McKinney warehouse. Lohm claimed a balance of $40 due him on the machine and sent to the warehouse to secure it. He was arrested but gave bond. Yesterday he explained the seizure was due to ignorance, and he was dismissed with his partner.

In the case of Marian Landes against the city of Paducah and Contractors Robertson & Gardner, additional reasons for a new trial were filed.

When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lapsed all winter—what would you think if he should say he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Such a man exists. MARY AGNES PERRY.

Mrs. Charles Perry, of Glens Falls, N. Y., writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver oil preparation, Vinol. Our little daughter had lost flesh, was thin, pale and sickly, and nothing seemed to do her any good. Having heard of Vinol, we decided to try it, and the results were marvelous. It restored her appetite and she is gaining in weight right along; the color has returned to her cheeks and she seems stronger than she has for years."

Every mother in Paducah is asked to try Vinol. It certainly does make children robust, strong and healthy. Vinol is a pure cod liver and tonic iron preparation, without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. It is delicious to the taste and children love it.

A Cohan Show Without A Cohan.
"Forty-five minutes from Broadway and they lock it up at 10 o'clock."

This expression uttered by the elegant, but convincing Kid Burns, contains the essence of George Cohan's latest, "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," produced last night at the Kentucky by "Corlone" and a capable company. The scene is laid in New Rochelle, which George Cohan considers a typical jay town adjacent to New York City. The plot revolves around the death of an old miser apparently without a will and the assumption of the family fortune by Tom Bennett, a scapegrace nephew who is about to marry a chorus girl and her mother.

They come to take possession, the house and Kid Burns, whose city slang is too much for the natives, comes as Bennett's private secretary. Mary Jane, the house maid, played by Corinne, nursed the old man and was his favorite. She is spurned by the villain who wooed her in the expectation that she would inherit the fortune. Kid Burns falls in love with her and finds the will in her favor concealed in a coat, which is given him by the butler. The plot is unraveled in one act and two more devoted to a typical Cohanesque entertainment, before the dramatic personae get wise that the plot is unraveled. The songs are known and whistled everywhere.

The part of Jaue was written for Fay Templeton, but it is not possible to see where Corinne failed to score. Scott Welch as Kid Burns, was the equal of Corinne at every point and made a distinct hit. The part of Tom Bennett, the millionaire, was excellently portrayed by Charles Arthur. Joseph Cusack, as Dan Cronin; Edwin Walter as James Blake; Claire Grenville, as the ambitious mother-in-law, and Elphye Snowden, as the chorus girl, were satisfactory. "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" was heralded as a serious effort by George Cohan, but it was not serious enough to hurt anyone. It is not the equal of "Little Johnny Jones," or several other pieces Mr. Cohan has produced. But it was a Cohan show, all right—only there was no Cohan in it. That left a void. We missed George Cohan's wobbly little voice and his irresistible little legs. The chorus was small but drilled according to the Cohan idea, which is the best. The audience was the most brilliant of the season, and standing room was sold.

NEW PLAN TO BALK HARRIMAN MERGER

Charter of Union Pacific Discloses Way.

Congress Expected to Authorize Commission to Proceed With Investigation.

NO HOLDING COMPANY FORMED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—In the sweeping investigation that the interstate commerce commission is making into the affairs of the Union Pacific merger with the Illinois Central, B. and O. and other Harriman properties, the original federal charter of the Union Pacific has been carefully studied and it has been discovered that the government has a grip on the situation entirely distinct from the powers conferred on the commission by the new rate law.

The act of congress chartering the Union Pacific provides: "That whenever it appears that the net earnings of the entire road and telegraph, including the amount allowed for services rendered for the United States after deducting all expenses, including repairs and the furnishing, running and managing of said road, shall exceed 10 per centum upon its cost, exclusive of the 5 per centum to be paid to the United States, congress may reduce the fare thereon if unreasonable in amount and may fix and establish same rate by law."

Provisions Still in Effect.
When a reorganization of the system was effected some years ago the government waived its 5 per centum share in the earnings of the road, but it is claimed by the experts who have studied the charter, that the remaining provisions of the law still stand and are in effect. As the cost of the property and not the capitalization made the basis of the computation of the earning capacity, it is claimed that the road has long ago passed the point where the government's regulating powers become effective.

Under the new rate law, a complaint is needed before an action for the change of rates become a matter for the commission to investigate. In the light of the charter provision this will not be necessary in the case of the Union Pacific, though as a matter of fact the interstate commission can conduct any investigation it sees fit, involving the operation and manipulation of railroad properties. As generally understood the investigation now going on in regard to the Harriman lines is for the use of the attorney general in basing a suit on the same lines as the Northern Securities case.

Congress to Investigate.
When congress meets week after next it is expected that a direct authorization will be given the commission to push the investigation. This is to be done by resolution calling for specific information from the commission on the reported consolidation of the Harriman properties. Just how the merger is to be attacked by the government has not been explained, as the roads to be combined are not competing lines.

No holding company has been formed and, profiting by the lesson of the Hill-Morgan lines in the Northern Securities case, no such device has been adopted. As a matter of fact, a joint ownership of stock accomplished the same purpose and avoids the barrier set up by the supreme court.

Have you compared them with results obtained in your section? Is your work where you are, bringing you adequate returns for the capital invested and the labor expended? If not, a change would be beneficial perhaps. A visit to the Southwest will open your eyes. Out in Oklahoma the last big land opening is soon to take place; farms are still very cheap in Western Arkansas, Northern Louisiana and the Gulf Coast of Texas. "No," she replied, with a faint smile. "No, because he was my husband."

Guy Oseard was looking very hard at Joseph, and, catching his eye, made a little gesture commanding silence. He did not want him to say too much. Joseph turned away again to the window and stood thus apart till the end.

"I have no doubt," said Oseard to Marie, "that he would have sent some message to you had he been able, but he was very ill—he was dying—when he reached Manila. It was wonderful that he got there at all. We did what we could for him, but it was hopeless."

Marie raised her shoulders with a pathetic gesture of resignation.

"The sleeping sickness," she said, "what will you? There is no remedy. He always said he would die of that. He feared it."

In the greater sorrow she seemed to have forgotten her child, who was staring open-eyed at the ceiling. The two others, the boy and girl, were playing on the doorstep with some unconsidered trifles from the dust heap, after the manner of children all the world over.

"He was not a good man," said Marie, turning to Jocelyn, as if she alone of all present would understand. "He was not a good husband, but," she shrugged her shoulders with one of her patient, shadowy smiles, "it makes so little difference—yes?"

Jocelyn said nothing. None of them had ought to say to her, for each in that room could lay a separate sin at Victor Duranova's door. He was gone beyond reach of human justice to the higher court where the extenuating circumstance is fully understood.

The generosity of that silence was infectious, and they told her nothing. Had they spoken she would have forced her belief, but then, as she herself said, it would have made so little difference. So Victor Duranova leaves these pages, and all we can do is to remember the writing on the ground.

Who among us dares to withhold the extenuating circumstance? Who is ready to leave this world without that clutch to lean upon? Given a mixed blood—lean blood with evil white—and what can the result be but evil? Given the climate of western Africa and the mental irritation thereof, added to a lack of education and the natural vice inherent in man, and you have Victor Duranova.

Nestorius, the shameless—stretched out his little bare limbs and turned half over on his side. He looked from one face to the other with the grave wonder that was his. He had never been taken much notice of. His short walk in life had been very near the ground, where trifles look very large, and from whence those larger stimulating blocks which occupy our attention are quite invisible. He had been the third—the solitary third child who usually makes his own interest in life, and is left by or leaves the rest of his family.

It was not quite clear to him why he was the center of so much attention. His mind did not run to the comprehension of the fact that he was the center of borrowed plumes—the subtle pleasure of King Death.

He had always wanted to get on to the kitchen table. There was much there that interested him and supplied him with food for thought. He had risked his life on more than one occasion in attempts to scale that height with the assistance of a saucerpan that turned over and poured culinary delicacies on his toes, or perhaps a sleeping cat that got up and walked away much amused. And now that he was at last at this dizzy height he was sorry to find that he was too tired to crawl about and explore the vast possibilities of it. He was rather too tired to convey his forefinger to his mouth, and was forced to work out mental problems without that aid to thought.

Presently his eyes fell on Guy Oseard's face, and again his own small features expanded into a smile.

"Bad case?" he said, and, turning over, he nestled down into the pillow, and he had the answer to the many questions that puzzled his small brain.

As through an opera ring the rhythm of one dominant air, so through men's lives there rings a dominant note, soft in youth, strong in manhood and soft again in old age. But it is always there, and whether soft in the tender periods or strong amid the noise and clang of the perihelion, it dominates always and gives its tone to the whole life.

The dominant tone of Sir John Meredith's existence had been the clear, high note of battle. He had always found something or some one to fight from the very beginning, and now, in his old age, he was fighting still. His had never been the dip and crash of warfare by sword and cannon, but the quieter, deeper combat of the pen. In his active days he had got through a vast amount of work; that unchronicled work of the foreign office which never comes through the cheap newspapers to the voracious maw of a chattering public. His name was better known on the banks of the Nile, the Seine, the Rhodanus, or the swift rolling Rar, than by the Thames, and grim Sir John was content to have it so.

His face had never been public property; the comic papers had never used his personality as a peg upon which to hang their ever-changing political grib-bles. But he had always been "there," as he himself vaguely put it. That is to say, he had always been at the back—one of those invisible powers of the stage by whose command the scene is shifted, the lights are lowered for the tragedy or the gay music plays on the limbo. Sir John had no sympathy with a generation of men and women who would rather be laughed at and despised than unnoticed. He belonged to an age wherein it was held better to be a gentleman than the object of a cheap and evanescent notoriety, and he was at once the despair and the dread of newspaper interviewers, enterprising publishers and turf hunters.

He was so little known out of his own select circle that the porter at Euston station asked each other in vain who the old swell waiting for the 4 o'clock "up" from Liverpool could be. The 4 o'clock was, moreover, not the first express which Sir John had met that day. His stately carriage and pair had pushed its way into the crowd of smaller and humbler vehicular fry earlier in the afternoon, and on that occasion also the old gentleman had indulged in a grave promenade upon the platform.

He was walking up and down there now, with his hand in the small of his back, where of late he had been aware of a constant aching pain. He was very upright, however, and supremely unconscious of the curiosity aroused by his presence in the mind of the station "constable." His lips were rather more troublesome than usual, and his keen eyes twinkled with a suppressed excitement.

In former days there had been no one equal to him in certain diplomatic crises, where it was a question of browbeating snavely the uppish representative of some foreign state. No man could then rival him in the instantly aristocratic school of diplomacy which England has made her own. But in his most dangerous crisis he had never been restless, apprehensive, pusillanimous, as he was at this moment. And, after all, it was a very simple matter that had brought him here. It was merely the question of meeting a man as if by accident, and then afterward making that man do certain things required of him. Moreover, the man was only Guy Oseard, learned. If you will, in forest craft, but a mere child in the hands of so old a diplomatist as Sir John Meredith.

That which made Sir John so uneasy was the abiding knowledge that Jack's wedding day would dawn in twelve hours. The margin was much too small, through, however, no fault of Sir John's. The west African steamer had been delayed, unaccountably, two days. A third day lost in the Atlantic would have overthrown Sir John Meredith's plan. He had often on things fine before, but somehow now—not that he was getting old, oh, no!—but somehow the suspense was too much for his nerves. He soon became irritated and distrustful. Besides, the pain in his back worried him and interfered with the clear sequence of his thoughts.

The owners of the west African steamer had telegraphed that the passengers had left for London in two separate trains. Guy Oseard was not in the first—there was no positive reason why he should be in the second. More depended upon his being in this second express than Sir John cared to contemplate.

The course of his peregrinations brought him into the vicinity of an inspector whose attitude betokened respect while his presence raised hope.

"Is there any reason to suppose that your train is coming?" he inquired of the official.

"Stunned now, my lord," replied the inspector, touching his cap.

"And what does that mean?" inquired Sir John, looking at him with a patronizingly ignorant of technical parlance.

"It will be in a minute, my lord."

Sir John's hand was over his lips as he walked back to the carriage, casting as it were the commander's eye over the field.

"When the crowd is round the train you come and look for me," he said to the footman, who touched his cockaded hat in silence.

At that moment the train lumbered in, the engine wheezing that hoarse, self-important air affected by locomotives of the larger build. From all quarters an army of porters besieged the platform, and in a few seconds Sir John was in the center of an agitated crowd. There was no other calm man on that platform—another man with no parcels, whom no one sought to embrace. His brown face and close cropped head towered above a sea of agitated bouquets. Sir John, whose walk in life had been through crowds, abhorred his way forward and deliberately walked against Guy Oseard.

"Hang it!" he exclaimed, turning round. "Ah—Mr. Oseard—how d'ye do?"

"How are you?" replied Guy Oseard, really glad to see him.

"You are a good man for a crowd. I think I will follow in your wake," said Sir John. "A number of people, of the lower sort. Got my carriage here somewhere. Pool of a man looking for me in the wrong place no doubt. Where are you going? May I offer you a lift? This way. Here, John, take Mr. Oseard's parcel."

HERALD DOPES IT OUT FOR McCREARY

Says He Carried Majority Of Democratic Districts.

If Senator Is Choice of Legislative Caucus, He Is the Democratic Candidate.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES.

The Louisville Herald says: In James B. McCreary, having carried a majority of the Democratic legislative districts the Democratic nominee for United States senator?

If the party law is adhered to there is little doubt that Senator McCreary is the legal nominee, as it is provided that the Democratic candidate for senator shall be named in the Democratic legislative caucus. Senator McCreary has carried a large majority of the legislative districts represented by Democrats, and, of course, is the choice of the voters of those districts. If the old custom of nominating were carried out, Senator McCreary would undoubtedly be the nominee. A contest for the nomination may be made along these lines.

It is interesting to note, by a perusal of the returns from last Thursday's primary that Senator McCreary carried fifty out of a possible eighty-three Democratic legislative districts. That is legislative districts that are now represented by Democrats.

Vote of Districts.

There are one hundred legislative districts in the state. Of this number eighty-three are now represented by Democrats, while seventeen have Republican representation. If, in the legislative election, a year hence, the people voted for McCreary and Beckham men for representatives, and the result was the same as in the state primary—admitting that the representatives would reflect the sentiment of their constituencies in a legislative caucus—then Senator McCreary would be the caucus nominee for senator as he would have a majority of seventeen in the lower house. In the senate he would more than hold his own, and if the nomination was made as it was one year ago, McCreary would win easily.

Whether this question is raised is yet to be determined. If it can be shown that the Democratic state executive committee acted without authority in calling a state primary then there would be little doubt of the nomination of Senator McCreary in a Democratic caucus.

Of the 119 counties in the state, Gov. Beckham carried a large majority of them, but most of them were Republican counties. On the other hand, Senator McCreary did not carry a single county now represented by a Republican. It is evident, therefore, that Beckham owes his nomination to the Republican districts, every one of which he carried.

Districts for McCreary.

Of the Democratic districts, eighty-three in number, McCreary carried the following:

Hallard, Calloway, Graves, Hickman, McCreary, Hopkins, Webster, Davless, two representatives; Henderson, Hancock, Union, McLean, Simpson, Washington, Boone, Grant, Kenton, three representatives; Pendleton, Bourbon, Fayette, two representatives; Scott, Woolford, Madison, Anderson, Lincoln, Mercer, Boyle, Garrard, Jessamine, Rockcastle, Mason, Robertson, Clark, Estill, Lee, Montgomery, Louisville and Jefferson county, nine representatives. Total, fifty.

The Democratic districts carried by Beckham are:

Carlisle, Lyon and Marshall, Trigg, Allen, Warren, Warren, Bowling Green, Logan, Todd, Breckinridge, Bullitt and Spencer, Green and Taylor, Hardin, Nelson, Campbell and Covington, Hart, Larnie, Marion, Meade, Carroll, Gallatin, Trible, Franklin, Owen, Henry, Shelby, Harrison, Bath and Rowan, Fleming, Harrison, Nicholas, Elliott. Total, thirty-three.

VAUDEVILLE HERO

GETS $300 FOR SHOWING HIMSELF TO PUBLIC.

Valencia Life Saver Loses Chance of $10,000 From Carnegie Hero Fund.

Seattle, Nov. 14.—John Segalos, a fireman aboard the steamer Valencia, who has been hailed as a hero for making five attempts to carry a lifeline ashore to save the many doomed passengers, of that ill-fated vessel last January, has been denied an expected share of $10,000 in the Carnegie hero fund by the commission, because he displayed his heroic person before the thousands that thronged the ten-cent theaters. Ten separate medals in honor of the fireman have been struck off in this city.

A nervous wreck and absolutely penniless, Segalos was advised by many well-meaning friends to accept one of the many vaudeville offers which had been tendered him. That he did not jump at these local managers will testify. The temptation to make money—not for himself, but for his poor old mother, his many friends say—finally overcame him and he accepted.

He drew great crowds. In all he was one week at the Star Theater here, another at Pantages', a week in Portland and another week here, giving exhibitions for which he received about $10 a night, or less than $300 in all. For this sum Segalos forfeited his right to be among the favored Carnegie heroes.

ASKS $2,250 FOR EAMES' SONGS

Conrad Sues Mrs. Samuel Untermyer for Charity Concert Bill.

New York, Nov. 14.—Helmer Conrad, of the Metropolitan Opera House, instituted suit for $2,250 against Mrs. Samuel Untermyer, wife of a lawyer, living at 475 Fifth avenue. This amount, Mr. Conrad asserts, is owed him by Mrs. Untermyer for the services of Mme. Emma Eames, who, under contract, sang several selections at an entertainment given for charity by Mrs. Untermyer in March, last year.

According to Mr. Conrad, when the entertainment was planned to be given in Carnegie Hall, Mrs. Untermyer came to him and engaged the services of Mme. Eames. The singer was to render several selections at a specified time in the evening; an entertainment for $2,250. Fifty dollars additional was to be paid her manager.

Although the contract was fulfilled, Mr. Conrad alleges that Mrs. Untermyer persistently refused to pay the bill for the singer's services, alleging that the amount demanded was exorbitant and out of proportion to the amount of singing done at the entertainment by Mme.

FEEDING NEW CORN TO CATTLE FATAL

"Fungus" Poisoning Prevalent in the County.

Dr. U. G. Warner Says That Fifty Per Cent of Cases Result in Death.

WARNS AGAINST THIS FOOD.

"Fungus" poisoning is prevalent among stock in McCracken county, and it is estimated by a reputable veterinary that 100 head of stock will be lost within the next two weeks. He bases his estimate on the present conditions. The epidemic is due alone to the use of new corn in feeding stock, and he warns against it.

"Two out of three cases of 'fungus' poisoning are proving fatal," Veterinary C. G. Warner stated, "and judging from the rapidly with which the epidemic spreads, I believe fully 100 head of cattle and horses will die from this cause within the next two weeks."

"Two years ago there was another such epidemic, affecting the lower end of the county. This time it seems to be general, and yesterday Mr. G. Crane, at 1121 Jefferson street, lost a horse. The second loss was a horse belonging to F. York, who resides about six miles out on the Cairo road. I have had numerous calls all over the county."

"The cause of this peculiar poisoning is the feeding of new corn. It will develop this disease quickly and it generally proves fatal." I think it a wise idea to caution stock owners to discontinue feeding new corn."

Two years ago nearly fifty head died for one farmer. Others in the county lost many head, also.

ST. LOUIS LOST TO MISSIONS

Maline Supreme Court Decides Against the American Board.

Augusta, Mo., Nov. 14.—The Maline supreme court today decided against the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, which contested the will of Solomon H. Chandler of Portland. When Chandler made his will in 1896 he directed that his estate, valued at $1,000,000, should go to the American board, but in 1902 he wrote a codicil leaving his entire property to relatives. The American board contested the codicil on the ground that when it was added to the will the testator was not of sound mind.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone, and as a conspicuous example of open, frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, are Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, overworked, debilitated, nervous, "run-down," pain-racked women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous remedy for weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, all catarrhal affections whether of the stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, nasal passages, throat, bronchia, or other mucous passages, also as an effective remedy for all diseases arising from thin, watery or impure blood, as scrofulous and skin affections.

Each bottle of the above medicines bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it—printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves, and is the best guaranty of their merits. They cannot be classed as patent medicine, for they are neither—being of known composition.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them, because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. Therefore, the afflicted do not have to rely alone upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation as to the curative value of his medicines for certain easily recognized diseases.

A glance at the printed formula on each bottle will show that no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines, they being wholly compounded of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American forest plants. These are best and safest for the cure of most lingering, chronic diseases. Dr. R. V. Pierce can be consulted freely by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y., and all communications are regarded as sacredly confidential.

It is as easy to be cured as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.
